Commencement at Margaret Eaton

Accuracy and a sympathetic appreciation of all the work were the outstanding features of the physical education session at the Margaret Eaton School of Literature and Expression last evening.

Several new formations and grouping which were introduced made a pleasant variation to the time-honored routine work. All the physical work is done without apparatus, and last night's program was another proof of the excellent work Miss Mary Hamilton is accomplishing with her classes.

The grand march, when the girls sang "We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall," marching tactics, dumb-bell drill, Swedish free standing exercises and "sports" were particularly good. Besides the minutiae, Greek and country dances, Miss Mildred Marsh gave a solo dance number, "Summer."

The clever formation of "M. E. S." and the National Anthem completed a delightful evening.

Sympathy in Every Fibre

Letters are beginning to come from the old land telling how deeply appreciated has been the gallantry of the Canadians. The wife of an English officer stationed in Canada for four or five years is but one of many voices saying, with her: "I am not writing much about the war or the contingent or the recent part they have played in the glory and honor of the Empire. I had an awful week of suspense—no news for five days during that awful battle, but I had a wire on the 30th, 'All well.' While rejoicing in my personal all-wellness, don't imagine that I am not feeling in every fibre of my being, for the

The Empire could not go on without the boys. The 3,000 Public School Cadets who paraded yesterday may not have been a very dangerous army with their dummy rifles, but they are the Empire's reserve forces for the future, for peace or war. The little fellows in their red coats, made a bright scarlet streak in the midst of a gloomy and wet day as they passed up University avenue and formed in front of the Parliament buildings. Owing to the heavy rainfall the Lieutenant-Governor, who was to review the boys, dismissed them after the salute.

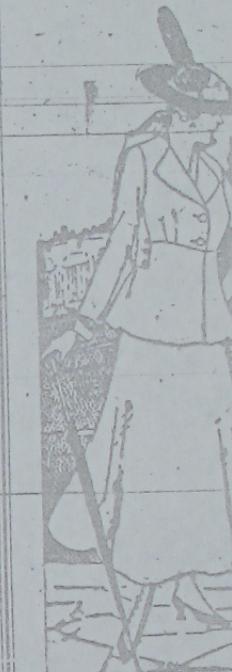

Flower Girls in Lead.

The possession, which commenced at the Armories, was headed by 720 flower girls in white dresses. Following these were the High School Cadets, 583 of them, looking smart in their new khaki uniforms. They had real rifles. The 2,809 Public School boys were dressed in red coats and carried wooden dummy rifles, as also did the 53 Cadets of the Separate Schools. In accordance with arrangements the monuments of the city were decorated with flowers, but the ceremonies in connection with these were curtailed on account of the rain.

Officers in Command.

Officers in command were Lieut.-Col. John T. Thompson, Lieut.-Col. E. W. Hagarty, Major James Wayling, Major A. Curran, General Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, was not able to be present. General Lessard, Mayor Church, Chairman, W. W. Hodgson and other members and officers of the Board of Education were present at the Parliament Building with the Lieutenant-Governor for the review.

LAURENTIAN ROADS.

Sweet are the paths that the traveller treads
Over the Laurentian hills;
With a song in his heart, the warm wind weds.
Life to live as he wills.

Cool are the meadows by the winding ways,
Where bob-o-links take flight,
And the uplands allure the sun's last rays.
The northern lights by night.

Dark is the dusk, when the night stills the wings.
The white moths flutter by;
And under the stars the wayfarer sings.

Dramatic Art at the Margaret Eaton

The annual commencement exercises in dramatic art were held in the Greek Theatre of the Margaret Eaton School of Literature and Expression last evening. The presentation this year of "As You Like It" was marked by careful delivery and excellent enunciation. Miss E. Lamb, as Touchstone, Miss E. Coulthard as Rosalind, Miss M. Breed as Orlando, Miss S. Grier as Audrey, and Miss M. Doherty, who, as Amiens, sang several pretty songs, were delightful. All the parts were well taken by the following cast: Duke Senior, Miss A. Smart; Frederick, Miss W. Nixon; Amiens, Miss M. Doherty; Jaques, Miss H. McFetridge; Lord, Miss D. Scott Raff; First Page, Mrs. E. Snyder; Second Page, Miss D. Peterson; Le Beau, Miss H. Blackford; Touchstone, Miss E. (ADVERTISEMENTS.) HOW TO GET RID OF DANDRUFF

The Home-made Mixture Removes Dandruff and Stops the Hair From Falling Out.

The following simple recipe, which can be mixed at home, or put up by any druggist, will quickly remove dandruff and stop the hair from falling out:

To a half-pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, 1 small box of Orlex Compound, and 1-4 oz. of glycerine. These are all simple ingredients that you can buy from any druggist at very little cost, and mix them yourself. Apply to the scalp once a day for two weeks, then once every other week until the mixture is used. A half-pint should be enough to rid the hair of dandruff and kill the dandruff germs. It stops the hair from falling out, and relieves itching and scalp disease.

Although it is not a dye, it ~~turns~~ up on the hair roots and will darken streaked, faded, gray hair in ten or fifteen days. It promotes the growth of the hair and makes harsh hair soft and glossy.

Brig.-General Mercer Writes of Gallantry of Canadian Soldiers

Mr. F. T. Mercer has received the following letter, dated May 7, from his brother, Brig.-General M. E. Mercer, commanding the Ontario Infantry Brigade of the 1st Canadian Division:

"We are in rest billets after our recent experiences from night of 22nd of April to 2nd of May. How anyone came out of those days, especially the 23rd, 24th and 25th of April, can only be ascribed to a merciful Providence, for shells fell like rain and machine gun and rifle fire was almost incessant, while gas bombs and trench-gas appliances liberated poisonous fumes that blinded and rendered the strongest as helpless as little children. A glorious page has been written in the gallantry and conspicuous bravery of the Canadian soldiers. No praise can be too high for their unswerving fortitude and valorous action, but the sorrow of it all is that to win the day entailed such a heavy casualty list. We all mourn our brave comrades who fell during those fateful days, and join in deep sorrow with the bereaved ones at home and those who suffer anxious hours through the lack of particulars of their wounded ones. Everything possible was done for them, and it is thought 70 per cent. will recover.

IT will be gratifying to those who have the interests of the theatre on this continent seriously at heart to learn that Justice Hendrick, of the Supreme Court of the State of New York has decided that a certain form of theatrical managers cannot exclude Mr. Alexander Woolcott, critic of the New York "Times," from their theatre. The decision will be appealed, but since the "Times" and their critic have already two decisions in their favor, it looks as though this latest attempt to strangle legitimate criticism and create a precedent that might serve in other states of the union, will fail. Proceedings against the theatrical managers involved were taken under the Statute of Civil Rights originally designed to protect negroes, Chinamen and others from humiliation and abuse in being thrown out of theatres for which they had purchased tickets. It, however, admits of a larger interpretation as to the right of any decent citizen to attend a performance in a licensed theatre. The question of Mr. Woolcott's right to earn his livelihood as a writer on theatrical topics was also involved. Curiously enough, the precedents which the defendants presented to justify their course were those framed for the protection of the public against ticket speculators. Thus it will be seen that critics, like ticket speculators, only enjoy the favor of managers when they can use them for their own gain.

The decision is one that interests all critics for the case is obviously a test one. It was clearly shown, and so held by the court, that no case of unfairness was made out against Mr. Woolcott, who is a serious, discriminating and fair-minded critic. The attempt was part of a general conspiracy which has been going on for some time in New York to strangle all theatrical comment not whole-heartedly favorable. Some newspapers under pressure from the counting house yielded to these "black hand" tactics, but the "Times" manfully fought the cause of its critic. Against him no iota of malice was shown in the exhibits.

It is to be hoped that the appellate court will take as sound a view, for the question involved is a much more important one than even that of individual liberty. The extinction of the fair-minded dramatic critic would mean that the last protection of intelligent playgoers would be removed. There are some theatrical managers of intelligence and taste, but it would hardly be argued that they are in a majority. The best of them are necessarily inferior to trained critics in knowledge, intelligence and taste. That is not their fault, because their training has lain along different lines. In European countries where the government realized its responsibility in connection with the theatre, and it is regulated by officials of artistic training and experience, the need of legitimate press criticism is not so great. In America there has been a total failure to grapple with the problem of the theatre, despite the very vital part it plays in the manners, morals and intellectual development of the theatre. Banish the critics and the only recourse is to police officers who again, by virtue of their own special training, are quite incompetent to deal with the questions involved. This is shown by the fact that police censors have always been and always will be failures. Legitimate criticism, because it protects the best interests of the drama and the theatre, is not merely essential to the public welfare but in reality it is genuinely serviceable to the manager if he would bring himself to see the matter in a truthful light. Legitimate vendors of ordinary commercial wares welcome government inspection and regulation which prevent the cheating merchant from selling adulterated goods under false representation. Why then should managers object to the presence of irreproachable critics like Mr. Woolcott who render a similar service in a matter that—let it be said once more with emphasis—ffects the manners, morals and intellectual development of the whole community.

ED. HOWARD has for many years been making playgoers laugh with reminiscences of the "Good Old Days in Wellington," and his sketch is as amusing as ever, especially to the many in his audiences who have come from the small town to the big city. Another important feature of the bill at the Hippodrome this week is Will J. Ward and his five piano girls, who in popular airs almost make their instruments hop across the footlights. The films this week are two years before the French Revolution of '48, now trudging down a gangplank on a New York dock, without attracting any more notice than any returning traveller receives.

Oxford found him early worthy of the honorary degree of doctor of music; Cambridge showed wider recognition of his abilities by conferring upon the composer the degree of doctor of letters. In his own country honors innumerable have been heaped on him. Indeed, few men live to enjoy more acknowledgments of success than have been tendered him. Thirty-four years ago he became a member of the Institute, and he has since been made a member of the Royal Academies of Belgium, Prussia, Sweden, Greece, and Spain.

The striking thing to-day about Saint-Saens is the vigor he has re-

CAMILLE SAINT-SAENS.

The famous French composer and the first delegate of the Franco-American Commission for the Development of Political, Economic, Literary and Artistic Relations, arrived in America aboard the S.S. Rochambeau May 12th. During his stay on his mission from France, he will be entertained extensively by the French Societies in the many cities he expects to visit during the three months of his stay here. M. Saint-Saens visited this country on a concert tour in 1906. He will represent his government at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. He was born in 1835, and is the dean of the French composers. His best known opera is "Samson and Delila."

complete in themselves, the serial system having been temporarily abandoned.

THIS earliest and almost the only musical accomplishment of most of us is whistling, and the higher branches of the art may be enjoyed in the act of Jewell and Jordan at Loew's this week. The dancing turn of Wykoff and Vanity is also a graceful event and the other numbers on the bill are well up to the average.

MR. FRED TIDEN who recently returned to the ranks of the Percy Haswell Players, gets a real opportunity this week in the revival of the amusing farce, "Confusion". Mr. Tiden is one of the most deft and skillful farceurs in America and the speed and expressiveness of his humor are shown in this piece. Mr. Jack Armstrong, who is prominent in the cast, is also one of the best "comic old men" that could be named. He and Mr. Tiden make the piece go with pleasing assistance from Miss Haswell and Miss Madge West.

CAMILLE SAINT-SAENS, France's foremost musician, and held by many to be the greatest living composer, is now in America. In the DANCES AT ST. MARGARET'S.

The entertainment given by Mrs.
Dickson and Miss Macdonald yesterday in aid of the Red Cross Fund covered the most delightful exhibition of dancing in aesthetic and graceful form, from the quaint adaption of the old-time varsovienne, beloved by our grandparents, to the lightsome dance mazes of a Swedish weaving dance charming in its bewildering variety.

The physical culture classes, the sales of home-made dainties, also of an excellent cookery book of tested recipes, published by the household science class, netted a goodly sum for the Red Cross.

Delightful socially and musically was the tea given by Mr. and Mrs.

received in a gown of black chiffon velvet, with black hat, and a bunch of sunset roses in the corsage, and Miss Marjorie Forsyth, who helped make things pleasant, was in green chiffon velvet and a pretty velvet hat to match the lot of violets in her belt having found their way to her as a little surprise on reaching the tea. The artistic rooms, done in brown and yellow, were decked with autumn leaves, and in the tea-room, where Mrs. J. A. Walker was in charge, gold and bronze chrysanthemums filled a golden basket and a big pumpkin and other things of that ilk gave a touch of Halloween.
The assistants in the tea-room were Miss Ethel Jennings, Miss Edith Yates and Miss Norma Cumming, and the program was in charge of Mrs.
Zollie Kirkham, Miss Jessie McAlpine, and Dr. Harvey Robb, who played, and Mrs. Rohland, Mr. Leon-included the Rev. and Mrs. Daniel

"Pinkie and the Fairies"

"They're very near, yet very far, but neither dead nor banished"— that's the glad assurance—that pa-ple who went to see "Pinkie and the Fairies" at the Margaret Eaton School on Saturday got about the Good People. The play, by W. Graham Robertson, is a delightful mixture of fun and faerie, and delicate satire on the lives of grown-ups.
Honour for acting go to "Tommy," little Miss L. Blong, who was a very natural small boy, true to type even at the party given by the Queen of the Fairies, Miss H. Backford, who danced very gracefully. The grown-ups of the play, Aunts Caroline and Imogen, and Uncle Gregory, were impersonated by Mrs. C. E. Burden, Miss H. McFefferidge and Mr. Eugene Beaupre. "Molly," "dreadfully old," according to Tommy, a loveable damsel of seventeen, whom the fairies help to clothe, was taken by Miss Reed, and little Miss Marsh was "Pinkie." About 40 characters, fairies and birds and beasts, took part in the playlet.

CANNING TIME.
There's a jumble now of species
In the sun-kiss'd vines,
Most loquacious, most
There are fruits of many sizes,
That just set the plate a-tum,
There's the sour, the spiced, the pother,
An' a taste for all sorts,
An' a taste for all sorts,
That's the general box of tastes,
For the greatest time of year,
And the canning days are here.

There's a girl with easily smiling
An' a presentin',
Some of them,
An' who's comin' far away plannin'
An' the likes of em' she's with
The sun here an' dreamin'
The berries that are steamin'
And the ones that have been trundlin'
As they vanished in the sun,
An' I'm happy that I'm here,
At the canning time of year.

Lord, I'm sorry for the tellin'
I'm a missin',
An' the likes of me,
An' the likes red and yellow,
An' can never sit an' listen,
To the rattle on the clatter,
The sound of spoon on platter,
I am sorry for the eagle,
For they missed the third an' single

Mrs. Buylow Goes to Market

As Mrs. Buylow approached the upper entrance to St. Lawrence Market on Saturday morning she met marketers already coming away with bulking baskets and laden arms, one loud Scotch voice breathless over the exertion of carrying a huge newspaper parcel, one arm and helping to support an overflowing suit case with the other, was saying.

"Well, it was worth coming in this morning."

In the flower stalls were chrysanthemums of all kinds and colors, pots of them, including the big, red single Mary Richardsons, at 25 to 30 cents, and the cut blooms at 50 cents to a dollar a dozen. One man had a lanch of purplish beauties, for which he asked a dollar. Violets were 20 cents a bunch and pansies 15 to 25 cents a bunch.

Apples and Pears.

Apples were lamentably scarce and poor, but one farmer had some very good-looking Northern Spies at 15 cents a basket or $1.00 a barrel, and another had enormous rosy Kings, for which he asked 25 cents a basket, but intimated that they were not selling very well at that price, and he might be induced to reconsider it. Some very nice snow apples were 50 cents a basket and greenings were 35 cents a basket or $3.50 a barrel.

Green pears were 40 to 50 cents a basket, and russets 65 cents.

Blue grapes there were in plenty at 25 cents a basket, and some beautiful Tokay grapes at 10 cents a pound, but Mrs. Buylow said:

"I can get them uprooted for that.
I have even seen some very nice looking ones at 3 pounds for 25 cents."

The Abundance of Autumn.

The dry weather has improved the cauliflowers, so the farmers say, and there were beauties at every price from 5 to 25 cents. Bunches made of three heads of green celery were 15 cents or four of a smaller size for 10 cents. One man had tiny creamy heads, eight in a bundle, for 10 cents.
Water cress was two bunches, for 5 cents. Brussels sprouts, 10 cents a box, and in some places, two boxes for 15 cents; artichokes, 25 cents a basket; onions, 20 cents a basket;
or little ones for pickling, 30 cents;
small green tomatoes, 25 cents a basket, and red ones, 20 cents a box larger than a strawberry box. There were plenty of winter radishes at 5 cents a bunch and white ones at the same price. Ontario potatoes were $1.30 a bag, and New Brunswick
$1.40.

One farmer had pots of growing parsley, which seemed a very good investment for the housewife, at 15 cents each.

Butter and Eggs.

Eggs were everywhere from 10 to 50 cents a dozen, and butter 32 to 35 cents a pound.

Chickens were 15 to 23 cents a pound and some small and skinny ones were marked 12 cents. Geese were 15 to 18 cents and turkeys 25 to 30 cents.

Pork tenderloin was 25 to 28 cents a pound, and spare ribs 12 cents; rolled brisket, 14 cents a pound, and fronts of lamb 11 to 12½ cents.

Home-made grape jam was 20 cents a jar; mustard pickles, 20 cents; crabapple jelly, 15 cents, and pepper
pickles 5 and 10 cents.

The fish man had sea salmon at 15 cents, Meadow trout and whitefish, 12½ cents, or sliced 15 cents a pound; three sea herrings sold for 10 cents, and skinned skate was 10 cents a pound.

British Sentences Decrease
During the War Year

Canadian Press Despatch London, Oct. 31.—The report of the Prisoner Commission shows that in 1914 sentences were imposed on 114,283 persons in the United Kingdom, a decrease from the previous year of more than 37,900. The change is ascribed mainly to enlistments, with the restriction of the sale of liquor and the great demand for labor as contributory causes.

The report chronicles two curious incidents in connection with enlistment. One man who had offended
